Completely unplayable. You get one image a minute and it spends the rest of the time unresponsive. your opponent disappears (whole room disappears) and it takes dozens of attempts to make any attempts at selections with its clunky interface because it's always attempting to looooooooooaaaaadddd but never successfully does.

look 5/10 (when you can see it)

interface 2/10 (sometimes worked but awkwardly) functionality 0/10 just gave me a headache waiting for it to return to the screen. Fun game not bad for 3.99 on sale. Needs DLC. Dont waste your money!!

This game simply does not work with the htc vive controller. Something as simple as choosing a card to exchange is frustratingly impossible. Also, there is no way to re-centre the view so your head hangs strangely well above your body.

Overall it is a cheap looking game... Nice! Too bad there's no DLC for full nudity.. Pretty garbage.

It's strip poker but strip poker you would see on Nickelodeon.

Hardly any nudity (No nudity, 5 seconds for each opponent in underwear)? Fine, maybe they have cool interactive personalities like in Poker Night at the Inventory!

NOPE.

If they win it plays "generic win A" video if they lose it plays "generic lose A", you will see the exact SAME videos over and over for these states in the SAME round of poker. They have NO personality, maybe a COMBINED word count of three full sentences and don't do anything to make actual playing interesting (no tells, no whiffs or bluffs)

Even at the hardest difficulty they (I'm not joking) hide behind their chair when stripping down, walk in front of the chair and stand for about 5 seconds looking like they just accidentally entered a adult video shoot then walk away and fade away into nothingness before even leaving your FOV. The videos play out the exact same way in all difficulties and I noticed 0 skill difference between Easy, Medium and Hard. No cute dancing or teasing or even a wink, they stare then walk away.

It was on sale for like 50 cents so I figured what the heck, right?

It's not even worth half a dollar, I'd have rather invested that money into a candy bar.

Avoid.
